Dear Admiral:

You were mighty thoughtful to write as you did on June 22, and I am indeed grateful.

I look forward to the pleasure of receiving the unclassified information which you will provide. In my judgment, your policy is a wise one, in that we need to make more data available to the public, but, at the same time, hold more closely those matters which would compromise our national security.

With kind regards and best wishes,

Very sincerely,

Dan Daniel

The Honorable Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr.
Speaker of the House

Dear Mr. Speaker:

The CIA regularly publishes unclassified reports on a wide variety of topics. Normally, these publications are distributed to individuals and to institutions that subscribe through the Library of Congress.

I personally place a great deal of importance on this program and have been attempting to expand it. We all fully recognize the vital necessity of maintaining the security of classified information. However, some of the CIA's information and analysis can be made available on an unclassified basis. It is my hope that by putting this material into the public domain, we will be better able to protect the remaining information which must continue to be secret.

Since I would hope that many of our unclassified publications would be useful to you, I am taking the liberty of placing you on our distribution list. A number of the publications you will receive are periodicals, such as the Economic Indicators Weekly Review; others are ad hoc publications that deal with topics such as the Soviet leadership, the Chinese economy, and the world energy outlook.

Unfortunately, we just are not equipped to handle constituent requests for unclassified publications, and I would suggest that these requests be directed to the Photoduplication Services of the Library of Congress.

(EXECUTIVE REGISTRY FILE)

If you ever find that receiving our unclassified publications is becoming a burden, please let me know so that we can either stop the distribution or narrow its focus as you desire.

Yours sincerely,

STANFIELD TURNER
